The Jewish Foundation shall identify the purposes for which personal information is collected at or before the time the information is collected.

Upon request, persons collecting personal information shall explain these identified purposes or refer the individual to a designated person within The Jewish Foundation who can explain the purposes.
- 2.3 When personal information that has been collected is to be used or disclosed for a purpose not previously identified, the new purpose shall be identified prior to use. Unless the new purpose is permitted or required by law, the consent of the donor or employee will be acquired before the information will be used or disclosed for the new purpose.
- 2.4 The Jewish Foundation shall document the purposes for which personal information is collected prior to the information being collected.
- 2.5 The Jewish Foundation shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that individuals are aware of the purposes for which personal information is collected, including any disclosures to third parties.

- 3.1 In obtaining consent, The Jewish Foundation shall use reasonable efforts to ensure that a donor or employee is advised of the identified purposes for which personal information will be used or disclosed. The identified purposes shall be stated in a manner that can be reasonably understood by the donor or employee.
- 3.2 Generally, The Jewish Foundation shall seek consent to use and disclose personal information at the same time it collects the information. However, The Jewish Foundation may seek consent to use and/or disclose personal information after it has been collected, but before it is used and/or disclosed for a new purpose.
- 3.3 The Jewish Foundation may require donors to consent to the collection, use and/or disclosure of personal information as a condition of the supply of a product or service only if such collection, use and/or disclosure is required to fulfill the explicitly specified and legitimate identified purposes.
- 3.4 In determining the appropriate form of consent, The Jewish Foundation shall take into account the sensitivity of the personal information and the reasonable expectations of donors and employees.
- 3.5 The purchase or use of products and services by a donor, or the acceptance of employment or benefits by an employee, may constitute implied consent for The Jewish Foundation to collect, use and disclose personal information for the identified purposes.
- 3.6 A donor or employee may withdraw consent at any time, subject to legal or contractual restrictions, provided that reasonable notice of withdrawal of consent is provided to The Jewish Foundation and the withdrawal of consent is in writing and includes an understanding by the individual that withdrawal of consent could mean that The Jewish Foundation cannot provide the individual with a related product or service. Donors and employees may contact The Jewish Foundation for more information regarding the implications of withdrawing consent.
- 3.7 The Jewish Foundation may collect or use personal information without knowledge or consent if it is clearly in the interests of the individual and consent cannot be obtained in a timely way, such as when the individual is seriously ill or mentally incapacitated.

- 3.8 The Jewish Foundation may collect, use or disclose personal information without knowledge or consent if seeking the consent of the individual might defeat the purpose of collecting, using or disclosing the information, such as in the investigation of a breach of an agreement or a contravention of a law.

- (e) where the employee consents to such disclosure or disclosure is required or permitted by law.

5.3 Only The Jewish Foundation's employees with a business need-to-know, or whose duties reasonably so require, are granted access to personal information about donors and employees.

5.4 The Jewish Foundation shall keep personal information only as long as it remains necessary or relevant for the identified purposes or as required by law. Depending on the circumstances, where personal information has been used to make a decision about a donor or employee, The Jewish Foundation shall retain, for a period of time that is reasonably sufficient to allow for access by the donor or employee, either the actual information or the rationale for making the decision.

5.5 The Jewish Foundation shall maintain reasonable and systematic controls, schedules and practices for information and records retention and destruction which apply to personal information that is no longer necessary or relevant for the identified purposes or required by law to be retained. Such information shall be destroyed, erased or made anonymous.

Principle 6 - Accuracy of Personal Information

Personal information shall be as accurate, complete, and up-to-date as is necessary for the purposes for which it is to be used.

6.1 Personal information used by The Jewish Foundation shall be sufficiently accurate, complete, and up-to-date to minimize the possibility that inappropriate information may be used to make a decision about a donor or employee.

- 6.2 The Jewish Foundation shall update personal information about donors and employees as necessary to fulfill the identified purposes or upon notification by the individual.

Principle 7 - Security Safeguards

The Jewish Foundation shall protect personal information by security safeguards appropriate to the sensitivity of the information.

- 7.1 The Jewish Foundation shall protect personal information against such risks as loss or theft, unauthorized access, disclosure, copying, use, modification or destruction, through appropriate security measures, regardless of the format in which it is held.
- 7.2 The Jewish Foundation shall protect personal information disclosed to third parties by contractual agreements stipulating the confidentiality of the information and the purposes for which it is to be used.
- 7.3 All of The Jewish Foundation's employees with access to personal information shall be contractually required to respect the confidentiality of that information.
- 7.4 The nature of the safeguards will vary depending on the sensitivity, amount, distribution and format of the information, and the method of storage. More sensitive information will be safeguarded by a higher level of protection.
- 7.5 The methods of protection will include:
- (a) physical measures, for example, locked filing cabinets and restricted access to offices;
 - (b) organizational measures, for example, controlling entry to data centers and limiting access to information on a "need-to-know" basis;
 - (c) technological measures, for example, the use of passwords and encryption; and
 - (d) investigative measures, in cases where The Jewish Foundation has reasonable grounds to believe that personal information is being inappropriately collected, used or disclosed.

- 8.1 The Jewish Foundation shall make information about its policies and procedures easy to understand, including:

 - (b) the means of gaining access to personal information held by The Jewish Foundation;

- 8.2 The Jewish Foundation shall make available information to help donors and employees exercise control of the collection, use and/or disclosure of their personal information and, where applicable, privacy-enhancing services available from The Jewish Foundation.

Principle 9 - Donor and Employee Access to Personal Information

Upon request, The Jewish Foundation shall inform a donor or employee of the existence, use, and disclosure of his or her personal information and shall provide the individual access to that information. A donor or employee shall be able to challenge the accuracy and completeness of the information and have it amended as appropriate.

- 9.1 Upon request, The Jewish Foundation shall afford donors and employees a reasonable opportunity to review the personal information in the individual's file. Personal information shall be provided in understandable form within a reasonable time, and at minimal or no cost to the individual.
- 9.2 In certain situations, The Jewish Foundation may not be able to provide access to all the personal information that it holds about a donor or employee. For example, The Jewish Foundation may not provide access to information if doing so would likely reveal personal information about a third party or could reasonably be expected to threaten the life or security of another individual. Also, The Jewish Foundation may not provide access to information if disclosure would reveal confidential commercial information, if the information is protected by solicitor - donor privilege, if the information was generated in the course of a formal dispute resolution process, or if the information was collected in relation to the investigation of a breach of an agreement or a contravention of the laws of Canada or a province.

- 9.3 Upon request, The Jewish Foundation shall provide an account of the use and disclosure of personal information and, where reasonably possible, shall state the source of the information. In providing an account of disclosure, The Jewish Foundation shall provide a list of third parties to which it may have disclosed personal information about the individual when it is not possible to provide an actual list.
- 9.4 In order to safeguard personal information, a donor or employee may be required to provide sufficient identification information to permit The Jewish Foundation to account for the existence, use and disclosure of personal information and to authorize access to the individual's file. Any such information shall be used only for this purpose.
- 9.5 The Jewish Foundation shall promptly correct or complete any personal information found to be inaccurate or incomplete. Any unresolved differences as to accuracy or completeness shall be noted in the individual's file.
