Irma Penn Bequest Gets Creative Juices Flowing

PILOT PROJECT SEEKS INNOVATIONS IN JEWISH EDUCATION

Irma Penn²¹ chose Judaism, but lived her life as if Judaism chose her. She converted when she married Marvin Penn²¹ and immediately embraced Jewish life with passion and zest.

And now, through the Jewish Foundation of Manitoba, her enthusiasm for Jewish learning will live on.

“For Irma and Marvin, Judaism was a big part of their romance,” says long-time friend, Ruth Livingston. “Irma was so attracted to Jewish values and Jewish ethics. The idea of tikkun olam made sense to her.”

Penn, who passed away in 2013, was active at Temple Shalom and with B’nai B’rith Women, and worked as the first archivist at the Jewish Heritage Centre of Western Canada. Her most significant community work was as a “soferet” – a scribe. She was the first woman in Canada to scribe a Torah.

“The work was a labour of love,” says Livingston. “It was a monumental feat that engaged many people in the community.”

When Penn passed away, she left a large bequest to the Jewish Foundation

“We are looking for ideas that are outside the box.”

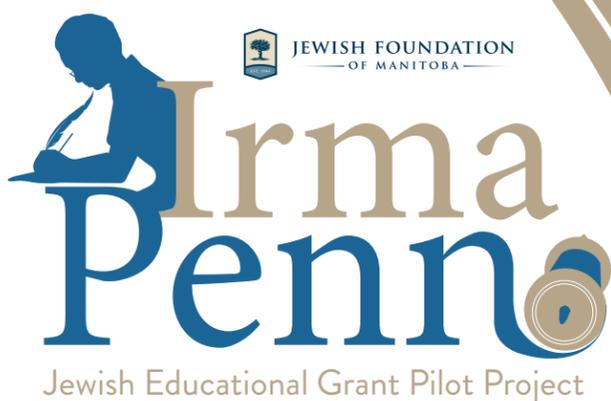

with the request that a portion of the net income earned by her fund be used to support Jewish education. In honour of Penn, the Foundation has launched the Irma Penn Jewish Educational Grant Pilot Project. Up to $35,000 will be available for new and creative Jewish educational projects.

“We are looking for ideas that are outside the box,” says Syd Thompson, Chair of the Foundation’s Distributions Committee. “Irma lived her life in a way that elevated Jewish knowledge, practice, and connection. With this grant, we are looking for ideas that honour her legacy by enriching our community.”

Only charitable organizations are eligible to apply for funding under the program. Interested parties should inform the Foundation of their intent to apply by January 15, 2018. Applications are due by February 15.

“We are very excited about this grant,” says Thompson. “We know it will inspire exceptional thinkers and educators in the community.”

Celebrating Jewish and Israeli Culture

CHAI SIGNS ON TO FUNDMATCH INITIATIVE

Their June 7 concert celebrated “Ancient Roads”. And now, thanks to the generosity of Ahava Halpern and Frank Lavitt, and the late Max Reich²¹, the Sarah Sommer Chai Folk Ensemble is paving future roads, too.

Chai honoured Halpern and Lavitt at the sold-out concert where Chai’s participation in the JFM’s FundMatch initiative was announced. Under FundMatch, Chai’s endowment will receive additional funding when certain benchmarks are reached. With Halpern and Lavitt’s gift along with Max Reich’s bequest, the first benchmark of $54,000 in new endowment giving is within reach. Once achieved, the JFM will add $18,000 to the fund.

“Contributing to Chai’s endowment fund is a statement that Frank and I are optimistic about Chai’s future,” says Halpern, who danced with the group in her youth. “In the arts, it is important to find ways to be financially sustainable for the long term. A strong endowment fund is the backbone of Chai’s future.”

For over 50 years, Chai has provided a venue for young members of the community to celebrate Jewish and Israeli dance, song, and music. The group has performed in Israel, Mexico, and across Canada, and has represented Winnipeg’s Jewish community at many local multicultural celebrations. Participation in Chai has been a highlight for many families in our community over the years. Families like the Reich’s.

“All three of our kids were performers, I volunteered with costumes, and my husband Max was on the Board and served as the Co-Chair with Mickey Rosenberg,” says Fay Reich. “Chai gives our community’s kids a chance to share their talents.”

Max Reich passed away in February 2017. His bequest to Chai’s endowment fund is counted as part of the FundMatch initiative.

“For a community of our size, we should be very proud of the group and I want to see it carry on,” says Fay Reich.

“I care deeply about Chai and so do many others in the community,” adds Halpern. “I hope other alumni and supporters will rally around the endowment fund.”

New Vision; A Promising Future

In Spring 2017, the Board of Directors approved a renewed Vision Statement for the Jewish Foundation of Manitoba. The statement emphasizes the Foundation’s Jewish values and shines a light on the Foundation’s growing impact:

Founded on Jewish values, the Jewish Foundation of Manitoba cultivates an endowment fund that guarantees growth, innovation, and the vibrancy of the Jewish and general community in Manitoba.
FOREVER.

The Foundation’s Mission Statement remains unchanged, as resonant as ever:

The Jewish Foundation of Manitoba, in keeping with our Jewish heritage and values, encourages and facilitates the creation and growth of endowment funds to enable the community to realize its potential. The Foundation maintains effective stewardship over all assets entrusted to it; distributes grants that reflect donors’ wishes and community priorities; and provides leadership in the Jewish and general communities.

New Officers and Board Members Announced

Dr. Eric Winograd was confirmed as the new Chair of the Jewish Foundation of Manitoba at the Annual General Meeting in June. Winograd is joined on the Executive Committee by Aaron Margolis (Vice-Chair); Danny Stoller (Treasurer); and Jeff Lieberman (Member-at-Large).

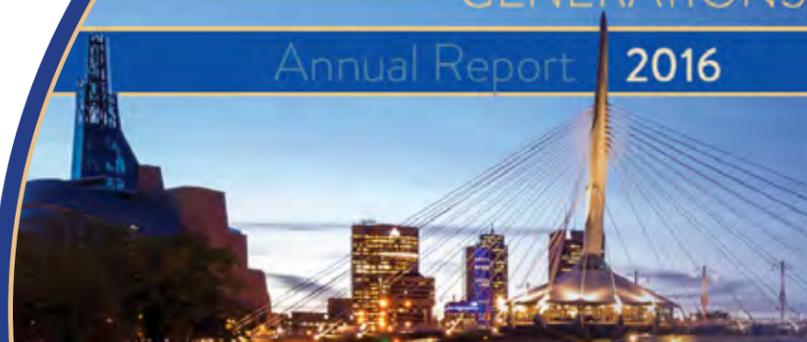

Dan Blankstein, Caroline Kiva, and Sean Shore were elected to the Board of Directors.

Annual Report 2016

A Legacy of Kindness

KAREN AND PETER LEIPSIC TOP UP AND RENAME IMPORTANT FUND

Peter and Karen Leipsic

Karen and Peter Leipsic come by their generosity honestly.

Peter learned two valuable lessons from his late father, Barry: one – help someone when you can afford to; and two – help someone even when you can't afford to.

Karen's parents – Coleman and Rose Silverman – emulated the same values running a general store in Dysart, Saskatchewan, providing credit to families in need, and always opening their door to travellers.

During the war, all the rationed food could have been sold for three or four times higher, but Coleman's comment was: "These are my neighbours! What would I say to G-d?"

"Even in lean times, he would lend a hand," says Leipsic of his own father, a partner in Aronovitch & Leipsic, a major real estate and insurance firm. "He took the time to learn about his clients. I recall one client – a woman who walked the streets to support her family. My father lent her money and helped her get out of the trade so her kids could have a more normal life. That's one example of many."

Peter Leipsic inherited that sense of compassion. "I worked with my father and observed him for many years," says Leipsic. "I like to think that his spirit of generosity rubbed off. My parents and Karen's taught us to try to make the world a better place."

The Leipsics are widely respected for their philanthropic efforts and volunteerism. In 2016, they topped up and repurposed a JFM fund, now known as the Karen & Peter Leipsic Fund in Support of Women & Children who are Victims of Domestic Violence.

"Through Jewish Child and Family Service, the income earned by this fund will help abused women and their kids get their lives together after they leave a shelter," says Leipsic. "It's an endowed fund that will have a permanent impact."

The Leipsics' children have also embraced the message of compassion. Daughter Sarah lives in Costa Rica where she is devoting her life to volunteerism. Son Jonathon is a physician and philanthropist in Vancouver. In a classic example of "it's a small world", Jonathon once met with a donor to the Vancouver Talmud Torah and learned that he had been one of many guests welcomed by the Silvermans in Dysart. Generosity can indeed make a big world feel much smaller.

Karen and Peter Leipsic hope that their children will continue to share the message of generosity. And they hope other members of the Jewish community will step forward, too.

"There are many causes that need support here," says Leipsic. "We've been blessed in Winnipeg. Our community is generous, but I think we can do even better. I'd like to see us all consume less and contribute more so we can change more people's lives."

Gray Academy Internship Program Connects with JFM

Jochebed Seyoum
and JFM CEO Marsha Cowan

From January to April, Jochebed Seyoum learned about legacies and convinced her classmates to leave one.

Seyoum, a recent graduate of Gray Academy of Jewish Education, was enrolled in the Jewish Community Internship course at the school. The course teaches students in grades 11 and 12 about Jewish organizations in the city and then sends the students to various organizations to work as interns while job-shadowing community professionals.

Seyoum worked at the Jewish Foundation alongside Zachary Minuk, Director of Marketing & Communications.

"I learned how a foundation works and what endowment funds can do," says Seyoum, who will attend the University of Manitoba in the fall. "And I learned so much about our community and the organizations that keep it together."

For Andrew Kaplan, the Gray Academy teacher who led the course in 2016-2017, the internship program helps students understand how the community works, shines a light on how they can contribute, and even gets some of them thinking about careers in Jewish communal service.

"The students learn that there is more to the community than our school," says Kaplan, who also teaches debating, public speaking, film, and English. "The course gives them greater knowledge about the community and some helpful work experience."

Community organizations, says Kaplan, have largely embraced the program and have given the students important assignments. For example, one student interning with B'nai Brith helped to develop a Holocaust education program for rural schools.

Seyoum used her term at the Foundation as an opportunity to launch the 'Class of '17' Endowment Fund. She helped to develop the messaging, design a poster, and convince Student Council to hold a "Casual Day" to raise money to launch the fund.

"Invest in a legacy that will live on" was Seyoum's message on the poster. Her fellow grads answered the call. No doubt future graduating classes will, too.

Your Generosity at Work

Women's Endowment Fund Grants Awarded

Thanks to WEF fundholders, the Jewish Foundation of Manitoba helps organizations deliver programs and services that make a difference in the lives of girls and women of all backgrounds in Manitoba.

In Spring 2017, the Jewish Foundation Board approved the following Women's Endowment Fund grants:

Chabad-Lubavitch of Winnipeg ($2,750) | to bring in Chanale Felig, a world-renowned female Jewish singer to perform at a women's concert. The event is designed to celebrate the importance, beauty, and strength of Jewish womanhood.

Mount Carmel Clinic Foundation ($7,500) | to support the renovation of Sage House, a facility offering programs and services to women who identify as street-involved and who are engaged in survival sex work.

Rady Jewish Community Centre ($5,000) | to support BBG Week, a special event for female members of BBYO. BBG Week includes community service, leadership development programs, and recreational activities. In addition, BBG Week will serve as an entry point to engage newcomer teens in the community.

To learn more about JFM grants and the application process, visit www.jewishfoundation.org or contact Marla Aronovitch, Grants & Distributions Officer, at maronovitch@jewishfoundation.org or 204.480.7557 or toll-free from the US/Canada at 1.855.284.1918.

Margaret Trudeau Fills the Room

Celebrated author Margaret Trudeau was the keynote speaker at the Women's Endowment Fund Luncheon, held April 21 at the RBC Convention Centre. More than 450 people – the largest crowd in the luncheon's history – heard Mrs. Trudeau reflect on her life as the wife of Pierre Trudeau, and on her mental health struggles. The luncheon, co-chaired by Jessica Cogan and Dr. Dianne Popeski, also honoured the memory of Irma Penn for her contributions to the community.

An Evening Out

On May 25, Elizabeth and Michael Boroditsky hosted a casual event at their home to introduce about 40 people to the Jewish Foundation of Manitoba. Rob Berkowits, the JFM's Director of Fund Development & Gift Planning, spoke as did Rory Paul, a 2017 signer of the Endowment Book of Life. Paul told his family's story and spoke about the importance of building a community whose members take care of each other.

Toronto/Winnipeg Tourney Honours Richard Tapper

FUNDS RAISED FOR CAMP MASSAD ENDOWMENT FUND

It's an annual event that celebrates Camp Massad, community, sports, philanthropy, and leadership. Richard Tapper^{z"l} would approve.

On two separate evenings in May, more than 60 players gathered in Toronto and more than 70 in Winnipeg for the third annual Richard Tapper Memorial Floor Hockey Tournament. Tapper, a beloved member of Winnipeg's Jewish community, passed away in 2012 at the age of 35.

"The idea to do a tournament in Richard's honour actually started in Winnipeg and Toronto simultaneously. He had a lot of friends in both cities," says Paul Chodirker, who moved from Winnipeg to Toronto with his family in 1997. "When he passed away, we all knew we had to do something to celebrate him. The tournament was a type of catharsis."

Chodirker, a lawyer with Gilbert's LLP, became friends with Tapper at Camp Massad despite a four-year age difference.

"He was the most selfless person I've ever known. He always put others first and always had a positive attitude," says Chodirker. "His passing left a big hole. The tournament helps keep his memory alive."

The funds raised in the first year were used to enhance and expand a cabin at Massad. In the second year, an amphitheatre was added to the cabin, now known as "Mercaz Tapper" ("Tapper Centre"). By year three, the whole project was paid for, so Massad officials and tournament organizers agreed to put all new money raised into the Richard Tapper Memorial Fund, housed under Camp Massad's organizational endowment fund. In 2017, about $8,000 was raised (about half in each city).

"Richard was a Massadnik through and through – a truly dynamic personality," says Danial Sprintz, Massad's Executive Director. "He always wanted to inspire young people to think more about leadership and community. He embodied everything Massad stands for: Jewish identity, creativity, inclusiveness, and kindness."

Tapper, who at one time was the youngest signer in the Jewish Foundation of Manitoba's Endowment Book of Life, was a respected chiropractor and a great athlete.

"Richard devoted himself to bringing out the best in others," adds Sprintz. "I think Paul and 130-plus floor hockey players are evidence of that."

BB Alum David Klein Pays it Forward

NEW FUND SUPPORTS CAMPERSHIPS

When David Klein stepped onto Town Island in 2014 for a B'nai Brith Camp alumni reunion, he was overcome by a deep sense of nostalgia and a deep desire to give back to a community that made his attendance at camp possible.

"My father passed away when I was 11," says Klein, 63. "Our family was poor and couldn't afford summer camp. My three siblings and I were able to go to BB Camp because of donors from the Jewish community."

Klein, now a resident of Vancouver, describes his summers at BB as "transformative". He attended three sessions every summer for six consecutive summers. "I looked forward to it all year," says Klein. "I was in an advanced academic program at Faraday School and was the only Jewish kid in my class. It was a lonely time. At BB, I connected with kids from the previous summer and everyone was the same – rich, poor, north, south. I was like everyone else, and everyone else was like me."

Klein, wearing white, at BB Camp in the late 1960s

Klein recently decided that it was time to give back and help kids in financial need to attend BB Camp. He established the Klein Family Campership Fund with $36,000 representing $2,000 for each of the 18 sessions he was at camp. "I figured it was about time I paid my camp dues," he jokes.

"BB taught me to play well with others, it taught me how to work as part of a team, and it taught me to be sensitive to the needs and feelings of others. It also gave me a strong sense of Jewishness and the values that encompasses," says Klein. "The decision to make this gift is a direct result of what I gained from the BB experience."

– JEWISH COMMUNITY – CAMPERSHIP FUND

LET EVERY JEWISH CHILD HAVE A SPECIAL SUMMER

Each and every year, our community's summer sleepover camps accept many campers whose families can't afford to pay the full tuition – including many newcomers to the community. B'nai Brith Jewish Community Camp and Camp Massad never refuse a camper who can't pay. And Jewish Child and Family Service makes sure that Jewish foster kids can have Jewish summer camping experiences.

Six years ago, recognizing that increasing support for community camps had become an essential community priority, the Jewish Foundation of Manitoba launched the Jewish Community Campership Fund. As of June 2017, this fund holds over $735,000.

Based on recent trends, we can say with certainty that our Jewish community camps will need ongoing support to help subsidize tuitions for campers whose families cannot afford to pay. We will learn about these needs before camp, during the summer, and even after the camping season.

The need will be immediate.
The impact will be enormous.

If you would like to ensure that any child in our community who wants a Jewish camping experience will have one, please contact Rob Berkowitz, Director of Development & Gift Planning, by telephone 204.477.7522 or toll-free from the US/Canada at 1.855.284.1918 or by email at rob@jewishfoundation.org.
