

Endowment Book of Life 2016

A Sign for All Time

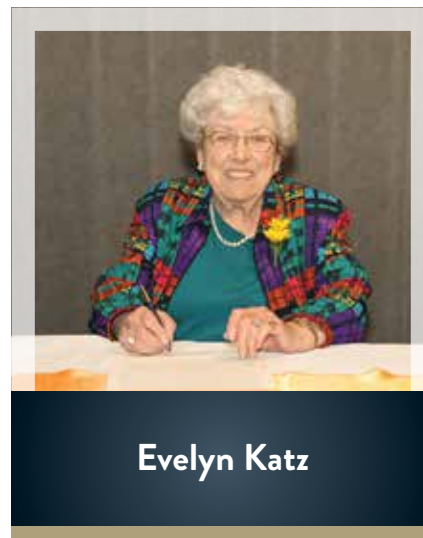

The Jewish Foundation of Manitoba is honoured to welcome our new signers of the Endowment Book of Life. These people have shared their stories, and will leave financial legacies to their community. Like their stories, the impact of their gifts will last forever.

Tell Your Story: Leave a Legacy

About the Endowment Book of Life Program

- The EBOL program is a planned giving initiative that invites you to (a) leave a bequest to the Jewish Foundation of Manitoba; and (b) tell your personal or family story for future generations to enjoy. Nearly 800 people have participated so far.
- There is no fee to participate. Your promise to leave a bequest welcomes you into the program. You are not obligated to disclose the amount of your bequest.
- You can designate your bequest to be used to support a specific charitable organization, program, service, or scholarship.
- If you wish, a Foundation writer will draft your story for you at no cost to you.
- You do not have to be a resident of Winnipeg to participate. If you were raised in Winnipeg, the EBOL program is a perfect way to express your affection for the city of your roots.
- The EBOL program is an ideal opportunity to honour and remember parents and grandparents.
- EBOL stories are on physical display at the Asper Jewish Community Campus, and are shared online at www.jewishfoundation.org.
- There is an annual celebration where our new participants sign their stories and receive a mounted version as a treasured keepsake.

Excerpts from 2016:

“When I tell people I won the provincial wrestling gold medal in my weight class, they are usually impressed until I tell them there was only one other kid in my weight class.”

“My wish for future generations is that they would be passionate for their heritage - for the local community, for Klal Yisrael and for the survival of the Land of Israel.”

“My Mom’s heritage is a mix of Romanian and Ukrainian, which explains why I like perogies so much!”

“While Head Girl at the High School of Commerce, she was selected as one of 50 girls in Canada to attend the Queen’s Coronation in 1953 and tour Great Britain, sponsored by the late Garfield Weston.”

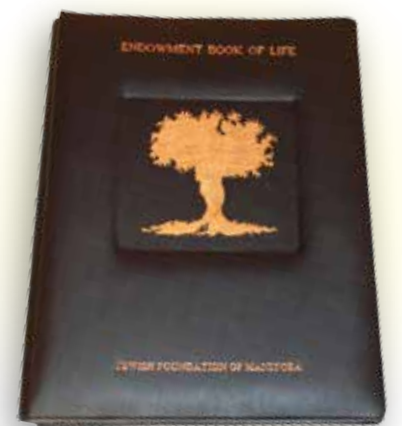

“Camp has the power, she says, to help kids become who they truly are, to discover their passions and their purpose, to learn about leadership and community; the power to change their lives.”

“I got my business sense from my father and my love of cooking was inspired by the wonderful recipes my mother would make, many of which I have collected.”

“The Branch ensured their fellow Comrades received the pensions and other benefits coming to them as veterans. They helped with medical care, provided clothing allowances and accommodations as needed, held High-holiday meals, and provided many forms of moral support.”

“My decision to make Aliyah was in great part motivated by my pride in being a Jew as well as by my parents’ ongoing commitment to the Jewish community in Winnipeg and to Israel.”
